HERMÈS CARRÉ H presents a New, Limited, Watch Design

Virginia Rodríguez Bautista - 19/07/2010

The Parisian luxury firm Hermes has a new clock design, the result of joint work with the French architect and designer Marc Berthier. It is at the forefront of the most exclusive and luxurious watches Hermes. It occurs very sober colors in a square shape with a slightly oval titanium case and of 36.5 mm, a sign of elegance and robustness. The brilliant crystal ball is designed with sapphire crystal, allowing you to dive to 30 meters deep. A limited edition of 173 pieces with a price that amounts to more than 12,000 euros.

Bring on the arm a bit as unique, exclusive and attractive piece of jewelry is a way to show the kind of carrier or carrier. Is the latest development in watchmaking that has released HERMÈS causing a revolution not only in form and quality, but also by the materials used to make it a distinctive watch, hard to play and easy to distinguish.
