ARMANI Brown and Gold Tones for Fall

Virginia Rodríguez Bautista - 14/07/2010

Armani collections are famous for being a preview of what the famous Hollywood stars will wear on the red carpet but this year, the designer surprised us with many daytime outfits. As expected, Armani offers a clothing line based on the elegant, classic looks with a very neutral color palette. Again, colors that evoke the image of fossilized wood, and tall forests, with a golden brown translucence.

The parade was a tribute to the most loved and used, beige, but this time in an amber-colored version. Very familiar pants suits, elegant dresses for day and linear but well-trimmed evening looks presented. Innovations included long satin gowns in a brown reminiscent of Havana cigars.

As always, Armani synonymously encouraged us to wear their designs with elegance and majesty.
