Ferretti 800, the latest fad sailing group

Josep Seguer Munté - 20/07/2010

The general view of the exterior of the yacht gives us the feeling of lightness, elegance and sportsmanship. The news you d are: the use of bronze color of the dome and the graphic lines of the glazing which are characterized by alternating with sinuous curves and cuts.

The main deck is almost entirely lit by windows, with great outward visibility. Three windows in the shape of shark gills are a feature of some models of Ferretti Yachts, relating to the marine world. The bottom floor has produced several new solutions through cutting-edge designs developed by AYT, which guarantees an extraordinary amount of lighting for yachts on the floor below. The two windows and open views of the main cabin has been further expanded, while the portholes of the guest area of great functionality.

The superyacht is powered by two MAN 1800 engines that drive the boat to a top speed of 31 knots.

The main innovation in the interior is the relocation the bow the area intended for the crew, which p ERMITE optimize the available space for the owner and guests.

Increased glazing improves interior lighting giving natural tones and improving passenger comfort.

The sleeping area is set on one level and has the main cabin, two VIP cabins with double and a guest cabin with bunk beds. The main deck is divided into two distinct areas: living room and dining room. The living area has a new design with two sofas that can be placed freely along the line of the walls.
